FLYING ROLLER, A NEW SECT

Hair Cutting, Shaving, Tattooing, Unusually Sins—Millennium in 1904.

A strange new religious sect, who call themselves the "Flying Roller," has made its appearance in Everett, Mass., with headquarters in Hancock street, says the New York Tribune. Under a blue and white sign above the door is another sign, significant only in the initiated, which reads, "Excerpt From the Flying Roll." "God's Last Message to Man."

The sect, which numbers forty disciples, teaches that hair cutting, shaving, tattooing and other disfigurements of the flesh are unbecomingly and cardinal sins.

Lucien I. Pingree and Patrick Mahan are the leaders of the strange company, which has many other believers and preaches that the millennium is due in 1904.

Novel Bridge For New York.

The new bridge that is to be built over the East river between the foot of Pike street, Manhattan, and Brooklyn is planned on unconventional lines, says Harper's Weekly. According to the plans of the bridge commissioner, the superstructure of the main spans is to be suspended from link, or eye bar, cables having fixed connections at the tops of the towers and at the anchorages. This will do away with the trusses that are used on most bridges for stiffening and at the same time will give ample strength to the structure. The elevated trains will run on tracks above the trolleys. The promenade will be on the outside of the roadway, while the driveway will occupy the center of the bridge. An unusual feature will be a large hall built inside of each anchorage, to be devoted to public use under the direction of the city officials.

Will Use Drums in School.

The school trustees of St. Paul, Minn., have decided to substitute drums for pianos in the public schools, says the Chicago Tribune. They found the instruments of use only when the pupils were marching and ordered the change in the interest of economy.

British Railway's Latest Move.

The Great Western Railway company in England has decided to establish road motor car services as feeders to the railway in country districts.

Unique Fire Key Box.

Probably one of the most unique fire alarm key boxes in existence is in Keeneburg, Me. The streets there are shaded by ancient elms, and at the corner of Summer and Park streets a niche was hollowed out of an immense elm large enough to hold a key, the key put in and a glass put in for a cover.

Nicotine.

That nicotine is necessary to the nutrition of the tobacco plant and not waste product is shown by an Italian botanist.
